FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1914

Next Sunday is Flag Day.

President Wilson's trust reform bills passed the house of representatives last Friday by decisive votes. All the measures are well calculated to promote the welfare of the country.

Gentlemen in the race for nominations for district and county offices are getting out upon the track in great shape, warming up for the great test of strength at the primaries August 11.

Former Congressman James Kennedy of Youngstown, who is a candidate for the republican nomination for congress, believes that he will be able to "come back." He declares that throughout the new district he finds his candidacy welcomed, and that his opponents will find after the contest is ended that he is not in the has-been class.

David Tod of Youngstown is off on an automobile tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor. He expects to visit every county in the state during the next few weeks. Congressman Willis, of Ada, his opponent, will need to get right busy if he hopes to checkmate the efforts of the energetic and popular David.

John H. Dickson of Wooster, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the Normal college graduating class in the Presbyterian church a week ago last Sunday night, was nominated for governor by the prohibitionists at Columbus last week. Mr. Dickson is an able man but the chance of his election, or the men on the ticket with him, is not one in a million.

William R. Thom of Canton, secretary to Congressman Whitacre, is a candidate for state central committee from the 16th district. No better man could be selected. He is a young man of exceptional ability, has been and is a most active democrat, and his host of newspaper friends the state over know that no mistake will be made if he is chosen to the place to which he aspires.

Petitions bearing thousands of names have been filed in this county for Hon. John J. Whitacre, democratic candidate for governor. It must be evident to the most casual observers that if Gov. Cox is renominated at the August primaries he will be defeated by the largest majority ever polled upon an Ohio gubernatorial candidate. The nomination of Mr. Whitacre is the only salvation for the party. Democrats, rally to his support and he will win.

There is another Richmond in the field for the democratic nomination for congress in the 16th district in the person of W. S. King of Ashland county. The only other candidate in the running up to within a week was Mr. Kilpatrick of Warren. No Mahoning county candidate has appeared, and probably will not. Mr. Kilpatrick has the advantage of his opponent in this county by being much better known. Either Cox or King, however, would do the district credit in the house branch of the national legislature.

YOUNGSTOWN

John A. Logan was fined $35 and costs for driving through a K. of P. procession in Girard last Sunday, when a member of the band was thrown down by the auto.

While E. B. Williams was driving his machine home from Warren Saturday night it ran into a ditch and turned turtle. Mr. W. and his wife were badly hurt and are in the hospital and other members of the party were somewhat injured.

Friends of Oscar Diser, candidate for the republican nomination for congress, are arranging to have a boom feast for him at the Ohio hotel some night soon.

Henry Kaercher, a well known business man of this city, has announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for state senator in the Mahoning-Trumbull district, a place for which he is well qualified.

Foster, the colored man, doing a life sentence in the pen, will have another chance to be heard in court through a decision of the supreme court.

Business is brisk at the probate office these days, many calls being made for marriage licenses.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. has landed a big order for pipe to be shipped to the oil fields in California.

Fact.
Though you have everything you like, and riches come to you, your days may be unhappy, son; you'll find that this is true. But you can fill your days with joy; get this, it isn't alive. The way to be really happy is to like the things you have.

Wuff!
Bill Jones has gone. He hated strife. His passing is deplored; But he was overborne with life, So he jumped overboard.

GREENFORD

REPEAL THE LAW.

The very early repeal of the foolish and unnecessary law requiring candidates for office to file petitions in order to get upon the primary tickets. No law ever enacted was as much of a nuisance and as useless. Over the state of Ohio for the last three or four years there has been an endless stream of petition carriers seeking out electors for signatures. Starting with senators, candidates all along the line had to circulate these papers and when run down to the last candidate it meant scores and scores of them. Then the petitions lie at four up to there support and abide by the principles enumerated by his political party in such national or state platform as may have been adopted by it prior to the primary election." Under such a pledge, where is there any chance for honesty upon the part of an official?—Lisbon Patriot.

At Brennen, Ga., W. M. Golden, of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, says he found Foley Kidney Pills to be the best remedy for kidney and bladder troubles, also for rheumatism. He says, "Any person having kidney trouble, backache, or rheumatism should be very glad to find such a wonderful remedy." F. A. Morris, Canfield.—Adv.

Pupils perfect in attendance at the Patmos school during the eighth month of school were Herman Stratton, Paul Middleton, Frank Ware, Charles Ware, Merle Bardo and Olive Stratton. Those absent one day or less were Henry Baird, Wilbur Baird, Frank Watters and Katie Oesch. Paul Middleton was absent only one day in three years of school. Stanley G. Howard, Teacher.

THE POLITICAL DRIFT.

Dispatches brought the intelligence that District Attorney Whitman of New York had announced as a candidate for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket and would likewise seek the progressive nomination.

It was stated, too, that Colonel Roosevelt would approve the nomination of Mr. Whitman by the progressives. If this information proves to be accurate, we take it that Mr. Whitman will be chosen governor of New York by a large majority, and that in the general crash a dozen democratic congressmen will fall.

Whitman has been a vigorous district attorney in the metropolis. He was elected by democratic votes and the general impression is that he has made good. He will have the Sulzer record, which is distinctly bad. And the figures outside of that disaster are all in his favor. For instance, in 1912 Sulzer received 649,659 votes as against 444,105 for the republican and 333,113 for the progressive candidate.

In other words, the two republican factions polled 187,729 votes more than Sulzer received.

With both factions back of Whitman, the democratic party in New York will be in a hard place.

That, however, is not the point of significance, as we see it. The impressive circumstance is the willingness of Colonel Roosevelt, the progressive leader, to combine with the old organization in New York.

Does that mean he will respond to similar overtures from the regular organization in other states? In Missouri and all over efforts at conciliation are being projected. The colonel has by no means indicated that he will resist them. He has merely announced that he will stand for Pinchot in Pennsylvania and Hiram Johnson in California. He carried both of those States in 1912, and is confident of his ability to do so again, regardless of the standpaters.

In other states, however, the colonel is likely to operate along the lines of least resistance. That is to say, where the regulars resist him least or seek his favor most, he may be tractable.

The situation is interesting enough for that element of the democratic leadership that devotes its time to politics purely enough, the democrats have pretty much the same chance in 1916 that they had in 1912—a certainty if the republican factions can be kept divided, and the democrats can be kept together.

There is every incentive in the world for the democrats to sink individual differences and grievances and get behind the greatest leadership. It is by far the best asset the democracy has.

The party can afford to lose forty or fifty of the Northern and Middle West congressmen which floated in on our tidal wave. They haven't strengthened any department of democracy except the appetite for spoil, which was already strong enough. We can not afford any split with the president or a revel in the small politics which small demagogues play at times in their efforts to get back.—Houston Post.

FOR HOW LONG

Canfield Raises a Pertinent Question. When a neighbor tells us that he has recovered from a serious illness, the first question that naturally arises is, "How long will he keep well?" Temporary relief is one thing, but a lasting cure is altogether different. There is nothing temporary about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills as the following Canfield evidence proves beyond a doubt.

Thomas Crothers, farmer, Canfield, Ohio, says: "I was greatly troubled by kidney disease for some years. I had pains in my back and my kidneys were badly disordered. Sometimes the kidney secretions were retarded, then again excessive. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I procured a box at Morris' Drug Store and after taking them, I was so much better that I used another. I took three boxes in all and they cured me. My former endorsement still holds good."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mr. Crothers had. Foster-McBurm Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.
